

Corpse identified by Roland Krenn

The body found at the weekend in the neighboring Innviertel is the missing Salzburg Roland Krenn. The confirmed after the autopsy prosecutor and police.

Prosecutor and police confirmed Montagnachmittag that the corpse is clearly the missing Roland Krenn. What the 63-year-old businessman from Salzburg died, the investigators could not yet clarify. After the corpse had already been very badly damaged, no external effects could be detected during the autopsy, said Barbara Fischer, a public prosecutor. In order to clarify the cause of death, there are still further toxicological studies.

Corpse discovered in an abandoned pigsty

In a house search in Haigermoos in the Braunau district, the investigators discovered the corpse last Friday. During the operation, a 28-year-old host was arrested on the same property on Friday. At the press conference Montagnachmittag it was announced that the corpse was tied from head to toe with an insulating tape and was wrapped with tent plans and tensioning sheets.

Did the suspects commit murder together?

According to the current investigation, the prosecutor's office assumes that the 23-year-old Flachgauer, who has been held in custody since the end of April, and the 28-year-old host who was arrested last Friday committed the murder together, said public prosecutor Barbara Fischer.

Third suspect is no longer up to date

After the autopsy carried out, police investigations now focus on two suspects. To date, a 55-year-old German has also been tried. This is said to have robbed

Krenn. Currently, however, the circle of suspects is limited to the 23-year-old Flachgau and the 28-year-old host from Upper Austria. The Flachgauer telephoned last with Roland Krenn. In addition, the Salzburg was supposed to help the 28-year-old Austrian who was arrested on Friday to hide the corpse. According to the first investigations, the abandoned pigsty should not have been the scene of the crime. Even a possible act motif has not yet been established.
